SNAPSHOT STORYBOARD

A picture paints 1000 words

Film-makers without video or movie cameras can make a film. Think of a good idea, tell your story using between 24 and 36 still photographs – (that's only one roll of film) similar example to story told in comic books.

The Cork Youth International Film & Video Festival, was established in 1980 to open doors of the world of film making to the young, especially those involved in youth clubs, schools, community groups. The whole emphasis of the festival is to create awareness and involve them in all forms of art and to provide a showcase for their work.

Since the year 2000, we have a complete section in the Irish language, to encourage the widest possible use of Irish in the most modern media

Céad Mile Fáilte

(hundred thousand welcomes)

Welcome to Cork city, often called the queen of Irish cities. Like Venice it is built upon waters, and the river Lee flows a winding course under and between picturesque streets and gives to the city a distinct "continental" air. Cork is a city full of elegance and charm blending the old with the new.

The people of Cork are friendly, talkative, fun loving, and of remarkable independent turn of mind. Cork is one of the ancient cities of Ireland and one of Europe's oldest ports. In 1185, Cork received its first charter from Prince John. The city extends a cordial "fáilte" to old friends and strangers alike, who come to Cork.

the 29th Cork Youth International Film & Video Festival

26, 27, 28th May 2009
Cork School of Music,
Union Quay, Cork

Related Competitions:

As the aim of the Festival is to foster imagination of youth in film form, we have always encouraged the basic building-blocks of the art especially amongst the youngest, starting with "the ideas", progressing through the various preparatory stages, before actual film making. Hence, beside the film and video sections, we also have a Storyboard competition.

Each open to under 12's, under 18's and Adults.
Entry fee for the Storyboard Competition is €2

Perpetual Awards in the Film & Video Competitions

There are 2 sections: THE BLARNEY TROPHY section for adults and the CÚ CHULAINN TROPHY open for all those under 18 years. There is also the special GAEL TACA TROPHY for the best Irish Language entry.

In addition to traditional prizes, certificates and various awards for photography, editing, acting etc.,

Beidh fíor-chaoín faillte riomh gach iarracht sa Gaeilge, 7 beidh trofai mór ar fail o Ghael-Taca ar son na h-iarrachta is fearr.
